Alberta Enterprise Group applauds Premier Smith's leadership on West Coast pipeline

Calgary, Alberta – Alberta Enterprise Group, representing business leaders and employers across the province, strongly supports Premier Danielle Smith and her government's decision to lead as proponent for a new West Coast pipeline.

This bold step demonstrates the kind of leadership Alberta businesses have been calling for: action that secures long-term prosperity, creates certainty for investors, and strengthens Alberta's role as a driver of Canada's economy.

"Access to global markets is not only an energy issue, it is a business issue, an investment issue, and a competitiveness issue," said Catherine Brownlee, President of Alberta Enterprise Group. "Every company in Alberta, from agriculture to manufacturing to technology, benefits when our province has the infrastructure and market confidence to attract investment and create jobs. Premier Smith and her team are delivering the leadership required to unlock Canada's potential."

Members of Alberta Enterprise Group believe that responsible energy development, built on meaningful partnerships with Indigenous communities, can serve as the foundation for a stronger and more diverse Alberta economy. The government's commitment to Indigenous participation and ownership from the first day sets a new standard for how major projects should be advanced in Canada.

"Projects like this pipeline are about more than infrastructure," added Brownlee. "They are about securing a future where Alberta businesses of all sizes can thrive, families can prosper, and Canada can finally compete on the world stage with the full strength of its resources and ingenuity."

Alberta Enterprise Group and its members commend the Government of Alberta for investing in early-stage planning and for providing the clarity, confidence, and vision needed to move this project forward. Alberta businesses stand ready to support and champion this initiative, ensuring the benefits ripple across all sectors of the economy.
